Heroines of the Holocaust

Dialogue and performance

March 11, 2020

7pm

36 Battery Place, Lower Manhattan

During the Shoah, over 3,000 women fought back against the Nazis—in ghettos, forced labor camps, concentration camps and partisan units. How many can you name?

This talk will focus on female resistance fighters including Zivia Lubetkin, the highest-ranking woman in Warsaw's underground, Vitka Kempner, a partisan leader who blew up a German ammunition train with a grenade and Roza Robota, who was executed for her role in the Auschwitz uprising that destroyed crematoria IV. Experience the commemoration of their bold action in Hirsch Glik's "Female Partisan song," in testimony and in recent exhibits during the week of Purim.

Dr. Lori Weintrob (Director, Wagner College Holocaust Center) will be joined by Auschwitz survivor Rachel Rachama Roth who will provide her eyewitness testimony to the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising. The discussion will be moderated by Yiddish culture writer Rokhl Kafrissen (Tablet).

Registration recommended. Cost: $10
